

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction Alessandro Clericuzio	p.	7
Acknowledgments		11
Tennessee Williams's Silent Movie. The Glass Menagerie in Production Brenda Murphy		13
“‘These Scattered Idioms’: Tennessee Williams's Desire and the Black ‘Cahiers’” John S. Bak		23
Varieties of Subjects of Desire in Tennessee Williams's Poetry Andrea Mariani		43
Desire and Envy: A Girardian Reading of Tennessee Williams's Major Plays Alessandro Clericuzio		57
Paint with Light, or “to make the invisible visible”. Tennessee Williams, Jo Mielziner, and A Streetcar Named Desire Maria Anita Stefanelli		73
“A Spark of anarchy”: Mediating Ten Blocks on the Camino Real Christophe Collard		87
All the Pretty Sea-Horses: Echoes and Traces of Robert Browning's “My Last Duchess” in A Streetcar Named Desire George Monteiro		95
Staging the Adolescent Girl's Desire: The Rose Tattoo and Baby Doll Sabrina Vellucci		105
Barren Desires: Overreachers and Drifters in Tennessee Williams's Short Fiction and Sweet Bird of Youth Fabio Saglimbeni		117

The Hero's Journey: An Analysis of the Male Characters' Development in Suddenly Last Summer Sara Riccetti	p. 127
Tennessee Williams and the Transatlantic Exchange in The Roman Spring of Mrs Stone Cinzia Schiavini	137
"Happy Birthday, Mr. Williams": Food, Drinks, and Cakes in the Plays of Tennessee Williams Christine Gottstein-Strobl	149
Suppressed Desire and Promiscuity: A Study of Marina Carr's Portia Coughlan and Tennessee Williams's A Streetcar Named Desire Shuei-may Chang	163
A Queer Route Named Desire: Camp Williams, or All About Tennessee Fabio Cleto	179
The Wooster Group's Vieux Carré and Its Shadowy Occupants Johan Callens	187